2. Cut out the bib section from the coordinating fabric.
3. Fuse the Baby Lock Soft Stabilizer to the back of the bib.
4. Using a straight edge ruler and the Frixion pen, draw several rows of lines on the strip at a 45° angle $\frac{3}{4}$ " apart from each other. For accuracy, use the markings on the ruler.
5. Set the machine up for sewing:
 - a. Attach the "N" foot.
 - b. Change the needle to a size 11 quilting needle.
 - c. Thread the machine with Madeira Aerofil Thread and wind the bobbin with the same thread.
 - d. Select stitch number 17 as shown in the following illustration.

- e. Place the bib section under the presser foot while placing the left edge of the foot even with the drawn lines. Stitch the first row of decorative stitches. Stitch at a slow even pace to be sure that the stitch line is straight. Repeat for the remaining lines.
- f. Rotate the bib section on the cutting board and draw additional lines on the section in the reverse direction from the first set.
- g. Repeat Step d & e to apply the decorative stitches to the bib section.
- h. Finish the top by following the directions starting on page 97 in the book.
